- (I) Regarding the announcement of “whether there is a material change in management right from the year before the private placement of securities resolved by the Board of Directors to the date the private placement securities settled” in the private placement section, the answer is “No” in the column because the private placement of common stock is mainly for the purpose of expanding the company’s future product market and competitiveness. The subscribers to be contracted refer to the strategic investors who can directly or indirectly benefit the company’s future operations, who are willing to properly cooperate with the existing management team, and who have a consensus with the company not to cause material changes in management right; also, who will assist the company continuously to improve business development competitiveness and operating efficiency; therefore, it is believed that no material change in management right will result.
- (II) In terms of “a major change in management right,” the underwriting security firm performs evaluations and issues an opinion in accordance with the assumptions formed according to the recondition of inconclusiveness. The underwriter’s evaluation opinion on necessity and rationality is mainly to consider factors such as the company’s current operating conditions and the feasibility of fund raising; also, it is to evaluate the rationality and necessity of private placement and related internal processes and procedures without material violations of regulations or obvious unreasonableness; also, it is not to make a direct judgment on whether there is a material change in the management right.

Those charged with governance (including audit committee) are responsible for overseeing the Group's financial reporting process.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China, we exercise professional judgment and professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Group's internal control.
3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.
5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
6. Obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

The engagement partners on the audit resulting in this independent auditors' report are Po-Shu Huang and Chung Shun Wu.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the "Regulations Governing Auditing and Certification of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants" and the auditing standards generally accepted in the Republic of China. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the Certified Public Accountants Code of Professional Ethics in Republic of China ("the Code"), and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with the Code. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis of our opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the financial statements for the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

1. Revenue recognition

Please refer to notes 4(n) and 6(p) for disclosures related to revenue recognition.

Description of key audit matter:

Revenue is the key indicator used by investors and management while evaluating the Company's finance or operating performance. The accuracy of the timing and amount of revenue recognition have significant impact on the financial statements. Therefore, we consider it as one of our key audit matters.

How the matter was addressed in our audit:

Understanding and testing the effectiveness of the design of, and implementing the internal control of sales and collecting cycles; reviewing the revenue recognition of significant sales contracts to determine whether the key judgment, estimation, and accounting treatment are reasonable; understanding the type of products and the sales of machinery equipment of the top 10 customers; calculating the turnover days of sales and accounts receivable to ensure whether clients' credit terms are in accordance with the ratios, and analyzing the changes in the top 10 customers from the most recent period and prior year to determine if there were any abnormalities; selecting sales transaction from a certain period of time before and after the last shipping date, and verifying them with the vouchers to determine the accuracy of the timing whether there are any abnormalities; as well as understanding whether there is a significant subsequent sales returns.

2. Impairment of trade receivables

Please refer to notes 4(f), 5 and 6(b) for disclosures related to impairment of trade receivables.

Description of key audit matter:

The notes, accounts and long-term accounts receivable constituted 33% of total assets of the Company as of December 31, 2022, and the impairment of notes, accounts and long-term accounts receivable depends on the evaluation of the management based on the evidence of internal and external factors, both subjective and objective. Therefore, we consider them as one of our key audit matters.

How the matter was addressed in our audit:

Testing the effectiveness of control points relating to cash collection; obtaining the list of accounts receivable balance to send confirmations for selected samples; acquiring the Company's computation of impairment loss rate to review its appropriateness; deriving the aging analysis of accounts receivables to verify the accuracy of aging periods by examining relevant documents of selected receivables; reviewing whether the recognition of provision for the impairment loss is based on the impairment loss rate; and evaluating whether the recognition of impairment on accounts receivable made by the management is reasonable.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The governance unit (including the audit committee) of MACHVISION, INC. is responsible for supervising the financial reporting process.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the auditing standards generally accepted in the Republic of China will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the Republic of China, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.

4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
6. Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Company to express an opinion on the financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audit.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

MACHVISION, INC.

Private Placement of Securities in the Year 2023

Assessment Opinion on Necessity and Reasonableness for Private Placement

MasterLink Securities

April 10, 2023

MACHVISION, INC.
Assessment Opinion issued by Securities Underwriter on Necessity and Reasonableness for Conducting a Private Placement

1. Preface

Machvision Inc. (hereinafter referred to as “the Company”) is a professional manufacturer of equipment for machine vision inspection and measurement systems. Presently, its products are mainly used in the industry of printed circuit board, which includes the measurement and inspection of PCB drilling and forming process, PCB circuit inspection, HDI and IC substrate inspection, equipment of header reading and others. In recent years, it also develops inspection products required for semiconductor assembly and test as well as optical lens industries. The Company plans to conduct a private placement upon adoption of the resolution by the general shareholders’ meeting in 2023, so as to enrich working capital or meet other funding needs for the long-term operation and development of the Company. It has the benefits of strengthening the Company’s competitiveness, improving the financial structure of the Company, and enhancing its operating effectiveness.

However, according to Article 6 of “Directions for Public Companies Conducting Private Placements of Securities”, if there is a significant change in managerial control with the one year period immediately preceding the day on which the Board of Directors resolves on the private placement, or there will be a significant change in managerial control after the introduction of a strategic investor through private placement, the assessment opinion issued by the securities underwriter on the necessity and reasonableness for conducting the private placement shall also be disclosed.

After evaluation, it was found that there were no significant changes in managerial control of the Company with the one year period immediately preceding the day on which the Board of Directors resolved on the private placement. Although the Company has not yet determined the placees, since a comprehensive election of directors will be held at the general shareholders’ meeting in 2023 due to the three-year term of office for directors and supervisors will be expired in 2023, and since proportion of equity held by the placees of private placement will reach 25.11%, if all the shares of 15,000,000 private placements approved by the Board of Directors are issued, there is a possibility that there will be changes in the number of directors or managerial control of the Company after the introduction of strategic investors through the private placement conducted this time. Therefore, MasterLink Securities Corporation (hereinafter referred to as “the Underwriter”) will provide herein the assessment opinion on necessity and reasonableness for conducting a private placement of securities in 2023.

The content of this opinion letter shall only be used as a reference for the resolution adopted by the Board of Directors of the Company on April 10, 2023 for the private placement of common shares, and shall not be used for other purposes. The explanation and analysis in this opinion letter are based on the information provided by the Company and those published on Market Observation Post System. This opinion letter hereby declares that it does not assume any legal responsibilities for any changes that may occur to its contents due to changes in the plan by the Company or other circumstances related to this private placement in the future.

2. Content of the plan of this private placement of securities

The Company plans to conduct a private placement of common shares with a maximum of 15,000,000 shares upon adoption of the resolution by the Board of Directors on April 10, 2023. The funds will be used to enrich working capital or meet other funding needs for long-term operation and development of the Company, which has the benefits of strengthening the Company’s competitiveness, improving the financial structure of the Company, and enhancing its operating effectiveness.

The basis for setting of this private placement price of common shares shall be the higher of either the simple average closing price of the common shares of TWSE listed or TPEx listed company for any of either the 1, 3, or 5 business days before the price determination date, or the simple average closing price of the common shares of TWSE listed or TPEx listed company for the 30 business days before the price determination date, after adjustment for any distribution of stock dividends, cash dividends, or capital reduction, on the principle that it shall not be lower than 80% of the average stock price. It is proposed that the Board of Directors shall be authorized by shareholders' meeting to determine the actual pricing date and actual private placement price based on situation when specific persons are determined and condition of markets.

3. Assessment on necessity and reasonableness for conducting this private placement of securities

A. Assessment on necessity for conducting the private placement of securities

a. Legal Compliance Assessment

The Company's net profit for the year 2022 was NT$591,776,000 and there were no accumulated losses. However, since the capital raised through this private placement is to be used entirely in the introduction of a strategic investor, there is no circumstance where the provisions of Article 3 of "Directions for Public Companies Conducting Private Placements of Securities" regarding public offering should be adopted.

On April 10, 2023, the Board of Directors of the Company resolved that the basis for the setting of this private placement price shall not be lower than 80% of the reference value. After evaluation, it also decided that the placees of this private placement shall be limited to the specific persons stipulated in Article 43-6 of the Securities and Exchange Act. In addition, in order to expand the future product market of the Company and its competitiveness, the selection of specific persons shall be limited to strategic investors.

According to the existing laws and regulations prescribed in the Company Act and Securities and Exchange Act, the public offering shall target the original shareholders, employees and general investors. Since the Company currently is unable to introduce specific persons who can benefit its future operation and development through cash capital increase, for the Company to continue its business and plan for mid to long-term operation and development, it is necessary for the Company to introduce, through private placement, placees who can benefit directly or indirectly the Company's future operations.

b. Assessment on timeliness of the offering

According to Article 13 of the "Regulations Governing the Offering and Issuance of Securities by Securities Issuers", the registration for issuing new shares for cash capital increase shall become effective 12 business days after the date it was filed. If the Company uses the public offering method to issue securities, the document preparation time before filing, the review of competent authority, and the matters regarding underwriting after the registration becomes effective would make it difficult for the Company to obtain the funds needed in a short period of time. Private placement is relatively efficient in terms of speed and convenience.

c. Financial Assessment

As of the end of 2022, the cash and cash equivalents of the Company on the account were NT$1,855,258,000, with shareholders' equity at NT$3,017,169,000 and current liabilities at NT$691,060,000. Overall, the Company currently has sufficient cash and has no bank debts.

If the Company uses the method of borrowing money from the bank to meet its future capital needs, given the current financial condition of the Company, it may obtain loans with better terms and conditions, however, it will not achieve its purpose of introducing strategic investors. After taking sustainable operation into account, the Company decides to introduce strategic investors through private placement. With the resources supplied by the placees, the Company is able to strengthen the technology required for future operations as well as expand the markets. In addition to effectively enhancing shareholders' equity, it may further improve financial structure of the Company and reduce debt ratio. Thus, it is necessary.

- d. Summary: it is necessary for the Company to raise funds through private placement.

B. Assessment on reasonableness for conducting a private placement of securities

The Company plans to conduct a private placement within 15,000,000 shares of common shares this time. The Underwriter will evaluate the reasonableness for conducting this private placement of securities from three aspects as follows:

- a. Resolution process for private placement: after the evaluation by the Underwriter, it is determined that the content of resolution adopted by the Board of Directors and the pricing method are in compliance with the acts and regulations, and there are no significant unusual situations. After the approval by the shareholders' meeting in accordance with the law, the Company may proceed the private placement operation in accordance with the content of the resolution.
- b. Legal feasibility: Considering the effectiveness of introducing specific persons through public offering for capital increase and the time when the funds are in place, it is reasonable to obtain funds through private placement this time.
- c. Working capital demand: considering the current financial status of the Company and future business development, it is reasonable to have private placement as one of the ways to obtain funds for sustainable operation.

C. Assessment of the impact of private placement of securities on the changes of managerial control of the Company

- a. Impact on business, finance and shareholders' equity of the Company

(A). Review of significant changes in managerial control during the period from one year preceding the day on which the Board of Directors resolves on the private placement

In the past year (from April 11, 2022 to April 10, 2023), the Board of Directors of the Company has not had any changes in directors, so there is no circumstance where the provision of Section 3, Article 4 of the "Directions for Public Companies Conducting Private Placements of Securities" regarding significant changes in managerial control during the period from one year preceding the day on which the Board of Directors resolves on the private placement should be adopted.

(B). It is unable to determine yet whether there will be a significant change in managerial control when specific persons are introduced through private placement.

Since the Company has not yet determined the placees, it is uncertain whether the specific investors introduced through private placement in the future will obtain a certain number of director seats to participate the management of the Company and cause a significant change in managerial control of the Company.
